

RADIOACTIVE EXPOSURE TOUR

14-23 MAY

2010

The amazing Radioactive Exposure Tour is on again!

Join Friends of the Earth on a journey to remote northern South Australia where we will visit the Olympic Dam uranium mine at Roxby Downs, the beautiful Lake Eyre and Mound Springs environments, the stunning Gammon and Flinders Ranges, the Arkaroola Wilderness Sanctuary and meet with indigenous peoples campaigning again the nuclear industry. This tour has been running for over 20 years.

Indigenous people across the world suffer most directly from the impacts of the nuclear industry and this 'radioactive racism' is a major focus of the tour.

The tour offers a unique opportunity to go out on to country and witness the impacts of the nuclear industry on people and the environment. We are particularly keen for you to come along if you are involved, or are considering getting involved in anti-nuclear campaigning.

Total cost of the tour will include travel, accommodation and organic vegetarian food plus paying the rent to Aboriginal communities.

Cost: $450 concession, $750 waged and $1000 solidarity

Info night for Melbourne people:
5th of May, 6.30pm upstairs @
FoE, 312 Smith St, Collingwood

Contacts:
Kasey Sparks: writewithya@gmail.com or 0425 862 834
Steve Holdsworth: 1meteorsteve@gmail.com or 0430 354 887